

Discovery Educator Network: Mid-Atlantic Regional Institute

Connecting Regionally—Sharing Locally

DEN Mid-Atlantic Regional Summer Institute August 2-3, 2008

And just like any other DEN experience plan on an intensive, interactive, and totally fun immersion into the world of Discovery Education and technology. You'll leave tired and energized at the same time. But most importantly during your two days you'll be sharing and learning from your peers - educators that are passionate about using technology in their classrooms. And,

The Mid-Atlantic Regional Institute is free—that's right it won't cost you anything to attend two full days of professional development!

We'll feed your brains and stomachs. All you have to do is get yourself to Monmouth University in by 10am on August 1, 2008 and provide your own housing.

We are limited to 100 participants and spots will fill up fast. We will go on a waiting list and we will keep all registrants informed of their status.
